Exempt from OPRA is emergency or security information which, if disclosed, would jeopardize security of the building or persons therein. N.J.S.A. § 47:1A-1.1. Building plans are exempt from disclosure as they contain security information which, if disclosed, would jeopardize the security of the building or persons therein. See Terry Nase v. Attached are the redacted architectural plans pursuant to your request. Also attached is a Vaugh Index identifying the pages redactions have been made and reason for such redactions.

Your request for public records is now deemed closed.

Sincerely,
