New post on Union News Daily

Accrediting agency gives Kean Univ. three recommendations after review by Rebecca Panico

UNION COUNTY, NJ — A regional accrediting agency that threatened Kean University's status five years ago has given its status back, Kean University spokeswoman Margaret McCorry said in a recent statement. "The review team was thorough and professional in its recommendations to the university are confidential, and that "Kean is committed to addressing" them.

The commission, which is an independent agency that accredits colleges in the region, put the university on probationary assessment, general education and assessment of student learning. Kean's accreditation was affirmed in 2012 after

Kean was put back on a standard 10-year assessment cycle at the time, and a periodic review report was required to be submitted at that time. Although the university received what McCorry called "accolades" from Middle States, the faculty union on campus was disappointed. The Commission on Education for the Physician Assistant, McCorry said.

Kean Federation of Teachers President James Castiglione said the denial of provisional accreditation for the program was a setback, which was slated to reside in the new North Avenue Academic Building. "Since it would require a mirror image of the key points in an online draft version of the periodic review report dealt with the university's commitment to share information with the faculty," Castiglione said.

The report noted that the University Planning Council, which includes members from faculty unions, administrators and students, unilaterally decided to disband the College of Visual and Performing Arts and reorganize it into a new College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

"Most shockingly, without previously consulting or even informing the faculty senate, which has jurisdiction over all academic matters, said students would have benefited more from having those "expert" professors as teachers, not administrators.

The university, in its statement, did not directly address Castiglione's concerns regarding shared governance, but said it was committed to transparency.

The required periodic review report will be eliminated by Middle States this year, commission spokesman Richard F. Pokrass said in an email.

"In place of the written PRR, the Commission will institute a new process called the Mid-Point Peer Review. It will be implemented by the commission this year. The Committee on Periodic Review Reports is slated to discuss Kean's report Oct. 19.

From there, the recommendations from the committee will be presented to the full Middle States Commission at its meeting in November.

The following is a request for a list of the Kean University state-dated and outstanding checks that are greater than 6 months old and greater than $1,000.00. We would like for the list to include all outstanding checks that are not more than 3 years old. This may also be known as Limited Payability Cancellation Report of refunds and credits. (undelivered checks).

Specifically, a list of the undelivered checks for businesses and vendors.
If possible, please indicate or eliminate any checks that have been reissued.

I understand from other agencies that certain fields on the report may be confidential so we restrict our request to the check date, amount of the check, agency code or reference number, and payee name and address. However, if it is simpler and more cost effective to send the entire report, we can work around the extra fields.

If you should have any questions or if there is a cost associated with this request please do not hesitate to contact me at (360)597-5800, or email to anthony.minotti@gmail.com

I request a copy of all correspondence between any of these individuals (Jeffrey Toney, the Dean who oversees the Public Administration program, the Executive Director of the Public Administration program, Dawood Farahi, the Director of the Office of Accreditation and Assessment, and the Public Administration departmental team overseeing the re-accreditation and/or accreditation process_ and the Network of Schools of Public Policy, Affairs, and Administration (NASPAA) regarding NASPAA's re-accreditation and/or accreditation consideration of the Kean Public Administration program.

This snip gives you an idea of where Kean is in the re-accreditation process. Kean is in the middle of the process and is preparign for a site visit

The years appearing immediately following the institutional name indicates the projected academic year for the next regularly scheduled review. (For example, if the year indicates "2017-18," then the self study would be submitted by August 15, 2017, the site visit would take place sometime between February and April of 2018, and the accreditation decision would be made by the Commission in June of 2018.) This year identification does not preclude the Commission from authorizing a site evaluation prior to the designated year.
