I think you folks may want to take a look at this.

Dr. King had his brother postpone his wedding in order to be at court in Maple Shade and was in Camden at the Zion Baptist church on another occasion in 1949. How'd did your researchers miss this stuff?

"But it would be wrong to dismiss the importance of the events in Maple Shade"

Isn't that what your study did, dismiss the event in Maple Shade?

Subject: Question -- Patrick Duff

Dear Michelle,

I hope all is going well for you down at Stockton. I'm writing because I've been contacted by Patrick Duff about an incident with MLK in Maple Shade in 1950. He sent a report from a group that you led on whether the residence should qualify for historic preservation (outstanding report, by the way). I told him I would meet with him, but I'm not sure what I can add. Would you be available to talk for a few minutes so I have a better idea of what to expect? I could call you later today or tomorrow morning if you are available.

All the best,

Chris

Also, just so we are clear on the dates, it was actually January 14th 1951 that "M.L King" was preaching at Zion Baptist Church, which is the same day as this article says the M.L. King senior was said to be in Atlanta. It took me minutes to find this, why couldn't you?

It's highly unlikely that is was Daddy King speaking in Camden, NJ on January 13th 1951, as your team claimed. He was preaching in Atlanta the very next day, as shown by this clipping.

I thought I'd give you a heads up that the NAACP released it's statement on the "study" you three did and you are not going to like it. I will be releasing it to the press a bit later and I am sure they will have some questions for you.

To:

Greetings Governor Murphy,

I sincerely hope this email finds you in high spirits and feeling well.

Please see the letter attached written to Acting Commissioner Catherine R. McCabe in reference to concerns we have with the MLK House in Camden, NJ being placed into the New Jersey Historic Registry.

Any assistance you may provide in our efforts would be greatly appreciated.

Thanks so much,
