Just an FYI-this post was forwarded to me. Looks like they will be reaching out to us for help. At least it appears the rescuers that were berating us are now speaking favorably about us, now that they need our help of course.

I'm afraid the remaining cats are not going to be adoptable though.

I just wanted to give you a head's up since it says in the post that they will be reaching out to us.

Nina,

Plans are already in place for us to go out there Monday morning.

Oh sorry-then my email was old news! Good luck!!! It was pretty grim when Tom and I went. Although the rescues have apparently pulled 55+ cats/kittens and say there are only about 20 left so that's potentially really good 🙏
