Gentlemen,

Here is today's list with the Warrant numbers. Again, the people who are here for old Munic/Grand Jury Contempts and warrants that you can't really do much with, are on the bottom of the list. I didn't include their warrant info but I can add it if you need it Wojo! Just let me know what you need and we will continue to streamline this until it is a well-oiled machine!

Good afternoon gentlemen,

There was no male Recovery Specialist here today so I did not include the male inmates that would have been seen by him. As is the pattern with Bail Reform, those inmates may very well be released by the time Lifeline is back in the building on Friday. Therefore, I did not want to bog down the system with useless info.

Just an FYI, I sent those inmates the handout for NJRC and told them to reach out to me if they need assistance before they leave.

Thanks,

Steph

WHAT: Sheriff Shaun Golden, members of the Monmouth County Prosecutor's Office, Gov. James McGreevey and substance abuse specialists are announcing Next Step, the first of its kind drug recovery program in the state. The program is aimed at combatting drug addiction and reducing jail re-entry by offering a new path for inmates with substance use disorder. Through working at the jail three to four days per week, recovery specialists ensure that inmates entering the jail are screened prior to being released on bail reform. Support services, treatment referrals and access to community services/resources when entering and staying in recovery are provided.

Craig,

As discussed, John Brogan at Lifeline would like to conduct "roll call training" on the roll and purpose of addiction advisers who respond to the PD on the above mentioned matter. This will ensure that the supervisors and the "boots on the ground" understand the purpose and object of this initiative. I greatly appreciate your partnership and anticipated cooperation to facilitate this necessary training.

Thanks again.
