Ability to Obtain Important Permits & Forms for Construction Work in the City Available Online

City website streamlines process in getting the paperwork contractors and builders need

NEW BRUNSWICK, NJ (March 23, 2020) – When an essential business like construction must continue in the midst of a Statewide stay-at-home directive, having around-the-clock access to important forms and documents is critical to meeting tight deadlines. Public access to New Brunswick City Hall is restricted due in part to Governor Murphy's recent orders to help slow the spread of COVID-19, but official forms and documents can be easily downloaded anytime through the City website, cityofnewbrunswick.org.

A recent Order from Governor Phil Murphy identifies which businesses in the State are deemed “essential” or “non-essential,” with all “non-essential” ones having already been ordered closed. For those in the construction trade, an ‘essential’ business, the City’s website, cityofnewbrunswick.org, makes accessing forms and documents as easy as a few clicks.

Around-the-clock access is available for forms like Construction Permits, Certificate of Continuing Occupancy, Certified Properly List Request, and a Contact Information Sheet.

To download these and other forms and documents, visit cityofnewbrunswick.org, hover on “How Do I” in the upper right corner, then click “Find A Form”.

The City of New Brunswick is the county seat for Middlesex County and home of Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, the world headquarters for Johnson & Johnson and two globally-renowned hospitals. New Brunswick is an educationally-focused City as well as “The Healthcare City.”

All of New Brunswick’s developments provide seamless access to major transportation lines and an extensive dining scene and an arts district, located in its bustling downtown. The City is focused not only on bringing in new residents and businesses, but also on improving the lives of every one of its residents.
