Good Morning, has anyone reported low water pressure around Darrow St. this morning?

South River Police Department

A water main break was just located on Darrow Street. Everything should be fixed and back to normal by late afternoon.

South River Police Department

at 20:01:36 on 11/26/2013 UTC

Once we are notified by the Board of Education, we try to post it on this page but we cannot make any guarantees of this. However, the schools have a system in place that they use to send out messages to phones. If you have a child in a South River Public School you should be automatically enrolled in this but you can check with the school to be sure.

Good afternoon. I wanted to take the time to invite you and everyone out on Saturday, February 10th for our First Responders Appreciation Day. We are a Performance and Recovery Training center that recently opened just south of Spotswood High School (about 15 minutes or so from EBHS) and are hosting a First Responders Appreciation Day. Come out and try some or all of our events starting with a Performance Class then our Stability Class and ending with lunch and Functional Movement Screens. FMS is a quantitative testing measure in which we can assess areas of inefficiency and susceptibility to injury and recommend injury prevention and performance strategies to correct these. Feel free to contact me directly with any questions. 908.510.2710 or the facility at 732.251.5224. Also, visit our website at njfasst.com to learn more about us. Thank you - Val (Bozza) Zalasar

Hi! We received a phone call about a boil water advisory... Is south river connected with this or only east Brunswick? (The call was from EB but we live in south river)

at 0:26:52 on 7/05/2014 UTC

There is no boil water advisory for South River. South River's tanks were filled prior to the water main break with enough water to last us through the long holiday weekend.

Are you aware of any water main breaks near George street? Our water has turned all rusty brown

South River Police Department

at 10:42:00 on 2/06/2018 UTC

Nothing has been reported to us and we have not been made aware of any issues by the water department. The water department did temporarily shut off a couple valves on Prospect Street yesterday afternoon which may have been the cause.

I just saw your Facebook post about the streets banned from being parked on and I am just wondering where I should be parking. I have 2 kids that attend South River primary and my daughter [REDACTED] and I can't just drop off my son as he's [REDACTED] and I have to wait for his teacher to come out by the buses. I've never run in to an issue before so I wanted to check cause I don't need any tickets for parking illegally. thanks

Good evening. I would like to share an event with you all that I'm hosting in May. The Americas 911 foundation is hosting a charity comedy show at the stress factory may 12. A little about the foundation: we are a nonprofit organization that raises money for a scholarship fund for first responders families. We give away 15 $2,000 scholarships a year to first responder families. I've included several links in the message to tell you about the event. If you have any questions please feel free to reach out to us. You may contact Todd @ [redacted]

Good evening, I am a borough resident and was wondering if it is ok to cover my car that I park in the street. Unfortunately I do not have a driveway or garage to leave the car in. The car is a secondary vehicle and is driven only occasionally.

Good afternoon. The police department is not involved in the billing for or shut off of electric. You can contact the borough of South River at 732-257-1999 or the utility billing office at 732-257-1999 ext. 105 with any questions or concerns.

A quick question regarding electrical. I recently made a payment on the online portal which both showed as processed and via a phone call with utilities I'd confirmed the account balance was zero just 2 days ago.

Turns out something went wrong with the check (perhaps I inverted an account number) and I found my power shut off today without notice.

How is that acceptable? Luckily we caught the issue quickly today + the supervisor was very helpful but had I not had a friend drop by by chance I would have hundreds of dollars in damage in food alone for something that was not my fault by time I got home from work.

There has to be some way to be notified prior to power being intentionally shut off, even if it's a very short window I need to have some way to rectify the situation before such drastic actions are taken should anything go wrong with your systems or my bank account in the future.

Thanks for your time.

Hi, im new to the area, and I know this is a long shot....but figured I would try. My daughter is 12, and having an extremely hard time in school, seems like a lot of the kids do not like her, and she is just having a tough time. We have been dealing with the school about these issues. But I was wondering do you have any of the police officers that are available to maybe just speak to her.... maybe give her some pointers, We just moved in, was so excited to buy our own house, and at this point I just don't know what to do.

For possible future investigation, extremely suspicious activity occurred last evening in a home across the street under the protection of darkness. A moving truck arrived once it was completely dark and cars/trucks were manipulated to hide whatever was being moved from the side door of the moving van directly into the home. At least 2 full length couches were also moved into this single family home by men who do not live there and have never been seen here before. All spoke Spanish. Suspected squat house. Please contact us for more information. [REDACTED] (Mike Tita, my cell phone is out of service.)

The loud, blue car I've called about has been idling for a total of 2 hours in 2 days (this happens every day, but I've only been counting for 2). Since I have called 3 times in 2 days with no assistance, I feel the need to document my complaint.

Officers did respond to your initial call yesterday reporting loud bass coming from the vehicle as well as your second call reporting the vehicle idling while parked. Both violations were not occurring upon their arrival. We document all calls and complaints when they are called in to us. If additional violations are observed please contact us via telephone to report them. If you have any further questions or complaints other than the violations that occur you may contact us by telephone and request to speak to the shift supervisor.

I don't like having to call every day, but I will if that's what you suggest. I called today at 2:50 after 20 minutes of idling and it continued until 3:30. The last time I made complaints about a school parent, I received a similar response from the SRPD and it resulted from the said parent returning to my home in the evening and causing thousands of dollars worth of damage to my vehicle. I hope there is something you can do his time to avoid such a situation. The u-turn and screaming in my driveway today does not leave me optimistic.

Thank you for your attention.

To SR Pop Warner
cc: SRPD

To Whom It May Concern,

I am a resident of David Street and while my husband and I support activities for the town's children, we'd like to appeal to the adults running the program to make the neighborhood's Sundays most enjoyable. As you can imagine, we are burdened with a very crowded street for the entire day but most disturbing is your use of the PA system. We feel it is unnecessarily loud and used in an excessive manner. We are unable to use certain rooms in our home or enjoy the outside. We are forced to shut all our doors and windows to simply enjoy television. Since the disturbance lasts from approximately 9am to past 6pm, we hope you will take measures to make your use of town property more tolerable.

Best regards,
Kim Tita

"The filming of government officials engaged in their duties in a public place, including police officers performing their responsibilities, fits comfortably within these principles. Gathering information about government officials in a form that can readily be disseminated to others serves a cardinal First Amendment interest in protecting and promoting 'the free discussion of governmental affairs.'" This right to gather and disseminate news is not one that belongs solely to the media, a particularly important principle in this modern era of the news industry, when "changes in technology and society have made the lines between private citizen and journalist exceedingly difficult to draw," the court said. "The proliferation of electronic devices with video-recording capability means that many of our images of current events come from bystanders with a ready cell phone or digital camera rather than a traditional film crew, and news stories are now just as likely to be broken by a blogger at her computer as a reporter at a major newspaper. Such developments make clear why the news-gathering protections of the First Amendment cannot turn on professional credentials or status."

Fortunately, Friday's ruling establishes the right to record within the 3rd Circuit beyond any doubt, meaning officers who violate that right in Delaware, New Jersey, or Pennsylvania may be sued. These three states are now on notice: An individual who films law enforcement activity isn't breaking the law; she's exercising her constitutional rights. Bystander videos may not eliminate police misconduct. But they play a vital role in our national debate about the lawlessness of law enforcement. And the Constitution does not allow police to muffle that debate by denying citizens the right to document their misconduct with a camera.

This is good news coming from the top.....

"I'm a firm believer that law enforcement works best when there's trust and collaboration between law enforcement and the communities we serve," Attorney General Gurbir Grewal said, noting that trust is primarily established through "transparency and accountability."

The State of New Jersey is not a stop and i.d. state. Failure To I.D. isn't a crime within the State of New Jersey...!! Law Enforcement 'misuses' the obstruction of the administration of law for failure to i.d. though. I am not an attorney. Please seek legal advice from a licensed attorney if you have any questions and concerns.

Citizen journalism

*Citizen journalists gather material by being on the streets. Their tools can be narrowed down to a camera, social media and an instinct to start recording whenever something seems newsworthy or out of order. Much of their knowledge regarding the issues that are raised are obtained through their experience as a part of the community.

Citizen Journalism is now being explored via new media, such as the use of mobile telephones. Mobile telephones have the potential to transform reporting and places the power of reporting in the hands of the citizens. Mobile telephony provides low-cost options for people to set up news operations.

Ain't there a different way to get towns to comply with the laws and respect citizens' rights other then suing them in court...?!
