"The filming of government officials engaged in their duties in a public place, including police officers performing their responsibilities, fits comfortably within these principles. Gathering information about government officials in a form that can readily be disseminated to others serves a cardinal First Amendment interest in protecting and promoting 'the free discussion of governmental affairs.'" This right to gather and disseminate news is not one that belongs solely to the media, a particularly important principle in this modern era of the news industry, when "changes in technology and society have made the lines between private citizen and journalist exceedingly difficult to draw," the court said. "The proliferation of electronic devices with video-recording capability means that many of our images of current events come from bystanders with a ready cell phone or digital camera rather than a traditional film crew, and news stories are now just as likely to be broken by a blogger at her computer as a reporter at a major newspaper. Such developments make clear why the news-gathering protections of the First Amendment cannot turn on professional credentials or status."

Citizen Journalism is now being explored via new media, such as the use of mobile telephones. Mobile telephones have the potential to transform reporting and places the power of reporting in the hands of the citizens. Mobile telephony provides low-cost options for people to set up news operations.

"Instead of trying to intimidate the public, officers need to be educated about First Amendment rights and the public's right to film in public places," Amol Sinha said. "They should be taught how to interact with people who are recording in public places and taught not to restrain them or threaten arrest, all of which chills speech and hinders constitutional rights."

When people operate out of misinformation and fear, things will go wrong.

Law Enforcement needs to respect citizens' rights and follow the law just like everybody has to especially in this day and age...!!

Jen

Let me be clear. There IS a war going on with the civil rights of individuals. Cops (but not all of them) don't care about your rights, and they want you to avoid exercising your rights. They'll try any trick in the book to get you to believe that you have to abandon your rights. They'll lie, intimidate with threats of jail, and they will get in your face while being armed (force).

Fortunately, Friday's ruling establishes the right to record within the 3rd Circuit beyond any doubt, meaning officers who violate that right in Delaware, New Jersey, or Pennsylvania may be sued. These three states are now on notice: An individual who films law enforcement activity isn't breaking the law; she's exercising her constitutional rights. Bystander videos may not eliminate police misconduct. But they play a vital role in our national debate about the lawlessness of law enforcement. And the Constitution does not allow police to muffle that debate by denying citizens the right to document their misconduct with a camera.

I've seen a lot of videos on YouTube where authority officials have targeted photographers in public, and lie to them about their filming rights in a public space.

The SCOTUS has ruled that filming and photography are forms of expression and protected by the 1st Amendment. Anyone and anything in, or seen from, a public area has no expectation of privacy.

As long as you are filming on public ground, you can photograph whatever you wish; this includes subjects situated on private property but within public view, such as a couple sitting on a restaurant patio that you can view from the street or a waiter who is taking a smoke break on his employer's back step. Similarly, contrary to popular belief, you do not need to obtain parental or guardian consent to photograph children on or visible from public property.

Citizen journalism

*Citizen journalists gather material by being on the streets. Their tools can be narrowed down to a camera, social media and an instinct to start recording whenever something seems newsworthy or out of order. Much of their knowledge regarding the issues that are raised are obtained through their experience as a part of the community.

Citizen journalism - Wikipedia

The concept of citizen journalism (also known as "public", "participatory", "democratic",[1] "guerrilla"[2] or "street" journalism[3]) is based upon public citizens "playing an active role in the process of collecting, reporting, analyzing, and disseminating news and information."[4]

Hi! On Saturday March 10th around 9PM my husband, 2 year old son and I was leaving Chung Sing. Walking to our car, my son saw a police car riding around in the parking lot and became so excited. The officer noticed my son's excitement and drove over to us, flashed the lights and siren for him and also gave him a badge sticker. We never got his name but truly appreciate the time he took to make my sons night! In the process, we also mentioned to him someone we suspected of DWI (we were going to call the station once we were in the car and report it) and he went over to check it out. I just wanted to take the time to let someone know since I was unable to post directly on your page. Thank you 🙏

Hi. I think I just got scammed on FB and I'm being told it's for human trafficking. I'm usually better with these things but I got duped and now this place has my address. I tried emailing the "company" and it says it can't be delivered.

Hi, I saw your burglary post in Society Hill. It's hard to see but he looks similar to my old neighbor, a known drug abuser (I don't live there anymore so I'm not sure if he does). I lived on Devin Court-he was in the end unit, straight ahead when you pull into that culdassac, all the way to the left-right next to the park. So not the end unit on your left, the left end unit straight ahead.

I saw the post while at work and have not been free to call. I don't but the Grissom Dare Officer Steve knows who he is. There was a domestic with him and we recognized Steve from my daughter's school. If that helps. VERY much looks like that guy, long history of drugs and used to bother the children at that playground including mine. I don't live in Society Hill anymore but I described the House pretty well and Steve probably knows who I'm talking out: my daughter is Mia Richards, if that helps jog his memory: we haven't lived in Devon in two years so I don't know his house number, I'm sorry.

Old Bridge Township Police Department

That's OK. Do you think he lives ON Devon or another street near that?

Sent by Marypat Murphy Jeffries

Brooke

He did when I lived there. He was removed for a short period and returned before moving out of there

If anything I'm sure Steve would know exactly who I'm talking about and have better info on him. I'm sure there's been more trouble with him since we moved

No he was very tall, white, would be walking around all hours of the night, cutting through peoples yards. Brown hair. I couldn't stand him living there. He had a wife or girlfriend that didn't seem the same and they had a little girl, whos probably 3 or 4 now

Doug

Class of 1991 from Madison Central High School

I grew up being physically and sexually abused by my parents on a daily basis

There names are Robert and Annette Silverman

I acted out violently when i was in Jonah Salk Middle School from 1985-1987 but nothing was ever reported to the police

Please make all parents aware of Erin's Law, Jenna's Law, and Jessica's Law tell parents, teachers, educators to look for signs of physical and sexual abuse

i talked to a psychiatrist about the matter and he asked me if DYFS was ever called they never were

i was told to deal with it, get over it, stop whining about it, etc.

it nearly destroyed me and i had to worry about other elements in the Old Bridge neighborhood beating me and murdering me on a daily basis as well

Jerry Carino Jr and his friends and family for one

it was a nightmare

it was like living in Nazi Germany

thankfully, i eventually left Old Bridge, NJ and then, the State of NJ

but the scars remain

i will be a recovering survivor of incest for the remainder of my natural born life

i suffer from complex ptsd

that includes horrible anxiety, depression, OCD, and mood swings

that's all i have to say for now

i also grew up worrying that my father would murder my mother on a daily basis and i would be kidnapped and beaten and potentially murdered by other elements in the Old Bridge neighborhood

most notably, the Carino family

Good Morning Mr. Silverman. If you would like to speak to a police officer about the sexual assault that took place when you were a child, you may do so in person at the Old Bridge Police Department or by visiting your local police department if that is more convenient for you.

I also told this story to a Dr. Carl Rosenmann who has a practice in Highland Park, NJ. He is a Psychiatrist. I told him this story in 1994. He had know idea why this would bother me. He had no idea why I didn't want to drive drunk and take advantage of a woman who was drunk.

His phone number is (732)418-1897.

In June 2001, I was threatened by Jerry Carino that if I didn't attend his bachelor party, he would have his friends hurt me.

So I decided to go, and his friends, namely Brad Butash and Michael Gasior, had a problem with threatening me with physical violence and threatening to kick my ass.

I believe these people live in Middlesex or Monmouth County, NJ.

I also have a problem with a Mr. Jason Schector, who in 1994, threatened to rape and murder my younger sister, Donna Elyse Silverman Donahue. I talked to the aforementioned Dr. Carl Rosenmann, M.D. about it, and he had no idea why that would bother me.

and Dr. Carl Rosnemann told me that if I didn't want to be friends with people like Jerry Carino and Jason Schector, then maybe I should go live in the middle of nowhere

Good afternoon. I wanted to take the time to invite you and everyone out on Saturday, February 10th for our First Responders Appreciation Day. We are a Performance and Recovery Training center that recently opened just south of Spotswood High School (about 15 minutes or so from EBHS) and are hosting a First Responders Appreciation Day. Come out and try some or all of our events starting with a Performance Class then our Stability Class and ending with lunch and Functional Movement Screens. FMS is a quantitative testing measure in which we can assess areas of inefficiency and susceptibility to injury and recommend injury prevention and performance strategies to correct these. Feel free to contact me directly with any questions. 908.510.2710 or the facility at 732.251.5224. Also, visit our website at njfassst.com to learn more about us. Thank you - Val (Bozza) Zalaras

Who is responsible for removing dead animal carcasses from the side of the road? There has been a deer carcass on Texas Rd. on the right side of the street heading into Monroe for at least a month - it's upsetting to kids to keep seeing there day after day.

Hello Kathie. The Old Bridge Animal Control does not remove dead deer carcasses from NJ Roadway. The county is responsible for doing this. I checked with our police dispatch center and they county was notified of removal of the deer two times. They will follow up again and see what is causing the delay. Please message us again if it is still there next time you pass. Thank you!

Hello, can you please be on the lookout for a light blue bmw plate # D67GLF? This car blasted around a stopped school bus this morning with no regard whether there maybe more kids coming to get the bus. Luckily all children were safely on the bus, but this person wasn't even being cautious. Another mom saw that the driver was a man around the age of 45-50 yrs. old.

Last night, I had two guys knock at my door at 2:30AM. They only knocked once, and then I sent my boyfriend downstairs to see who was knocking on my door at 230AM. He said that two guys were standing next to their sort of mini van (unsure of exact color) possibly grey or brown and they claimed that they were lost and they apologized for knocking on our door and left.

Is this something that we should be concerned with? They said that they though it was a house that they were supposed to be going to.

Please advise if this is innocent or if this something that we should keep are eyes and ears open to

Old Bridge Township Police Department

You should always keep your eyes and ears open for suspicious activity. Being that the police were not contacted, we have no way to determine if this incident was suspicious. If it happens again, please contact the police while the people are there so that the officers can speak to them and confirm their reason for being at your door at such an unusual hour.
