Subject: "Fired up! Ready to go!"

Good Morning,

The essence of being a Citizen Video Journalist; Observing, Documenting, Filming, Asking Questions, Researching....!!■

My name is Jen Coombs and I'm only one voice of many within our community. I'm going to change Monmouth County, NJ and Beyond for the better.....with or without your involvement. One voice can make a huge difference over time though...!!

I actually felt safe for the first time in my life when Barrack Obama was the President of the United States of America for eight years. I felt very disappointed when Donald Trump became the President because it was all 'doom and gloom' with him and still is today. I never really felt safe in my life under other past presidents either. We, as a country, have made tremendous strides going forward under Obama's leadership and it needs to be continued even though he's not in the White House anymore.

My voice is far from perfect. The cameras are not the issue.....believe it or not. Actually, it's various human behavior, fear-based and/or false assumptions, inadequate public and/or law policies that contradict actual laws and the U.S. Constitution, and lack of knowledge are the real issues to tell you the truth. "Transparency and accountability are critical to further strengthening the bonds between government officials, law enforcement and the communities they serve."■ I believe in 'Hope and Second Chances'. I'm all about building people up instead of tearing them down. Observing, Documenting, Filming, Asking Questions, Researching are my specific skill sets among of other things that I'm building on within my life.

We need compassionate changes within any community. I needed the video documentation to inspire the changes that we need because nobody would have taken me seriously for one reason or another. I understand that various people felt uncomfortable when it came to my video documentation but it was necessary to expose the unconscious biases that we have within any community. I made some mistakes along the way and my health suffered at one point or another as well. The 'intimidation' and 'bogus charges' from law enforcement need to stop because it doesn't really resolve anything except for the fact it puts a unnecessary, stressful legal process into effect that is expensive, arduous, and scary to say the very least.

So, my question for people to ponder is.....'Are you Fired up' and 'Ready to go'...?! Mr. Gramiccioni and Ms. Linskey, what are you doing in Monmouth County, NJ and Beyond to be more of an inclusive community for all involved and that includes people with not so perfect backgrounds and etc. People need opportunities to grow and move forward in their lives...!!

We need to get the dialogue going within our communities that we are apart of.

In matters of truth and justice, there is no difference between large and small problems, for issues concerning the treatment of people are all the same. - Albert Einstein

Subject: Body Cams, Education, And Training

Good Evening,

Acting Union County Prosecutor Michael A. Monahan announced Dec. 27, 2018 that the county is set to be the first in New Jersey to be exclusively patrolled by local law enforcement outfitted with body-worn cameras.

Local Police See Body Cams As Big Plus

1-10-19

<https://unionnewsdaily.com/headline-news/43347>

I'm requesting that Monmouth County, NJ to be the second county in New Jersey to be exclusively patrolled by local enforcement outfitted with body-worn cameras. I'm also requesting that every law enforcement agency in Monmouth County, NJ to be educated and trained on citizens' civil, constitutional rights and the actual laws when it comes to the State of New Jersey. It appears that law enforcement comes off as the 'POLICE STATE' at times.

"I'm a firm believer that law enforcement works best when there's trust and collaboration between law enforcement and the communities we serve," New Jersey State Attorney General Gurbir Grewal said, noting that trust is primarily established through "transparency and accountability."

Subject: Warrior vs. Guardian Mindsets in Policing

Good Morning,

What kind of mindset(s) does law enforcement have in Monmouth County, NJ...?! I know that the New Jersey State Police has a 'Warrior' mindset due to some past experiences that I had with them.

It's a positive sign that we have 'Coffee with a Cop' and community events like it. It gives the citizens a chance to get to know law enforcement in a relaxed atmosphere and ask them different questions. I have great concerns that it doesn't go far enough especially for the 'at risk', 'high risk' and 'vulnerable' populations that we have in Monmouth County, NJ. I couldn't really imagine that a drug addict, an emotionally disturbed person, a prostitute, an ex-criminal, and etc would go to one of these events to begin with anyways. I'm just curious if there is some sort of a positive community outreach for the people that I just mentioned now. I'm coming from an Obama viewpoint at this point. I learned that when society excludes people for having not-so-perfect backgrounds, it doesn't do society any good in the long term of things. I believe in 'Hope and Second Chances'.

*More on a personal note.....

I was stuck in my life for the longest time for one reason or another. I'm building a life that's worth living and I just don't want my not-so-perfect background to keep slapping me in the face in different instances. I'm trying to overcome the various barriers within my life to attain my goals of being an independent citizen video journalist, a first amendment advocate, an advocate for people with disabilities, and building a media brand from scratch. There are people in society that will never understand how strong the motivation to succeed is for individuals that have to live life differently because of a disability but when you have a passion for something the odds are on your side because you're willing to do whatever you can to be noticed for your abilities not your disabilities.

*Whether you're an officer who wears the badge or a resident who fears the badge this talk is sure to challenge your understanding of what's possible through law enforcement. As a social worker who now runs a police agency, Derrick Jackson has a unique perspective on bridging the divide between community and the police.

Derrick Jackson serves as the Director of Community Engagement at the Washtenaw County Sherriff's Office. He comes from a somewhat unlikely background for a law enforcement officer, graduating from Eastern Michigan University with a Bachelor in Social Work in 1998. While receiving his Masters in Social Work from the University of Michigan, Derrick worked with W.J. Maxey Training School where he had his introduction to the criminal justice system. In 2000 he began his work at Ozone House, working closely with at-risk young people in Washtenaw County.

With a background in direct service, community organizing, and politics he continues his commitment to the community by serving on numerous local boards, committees, and by volunteering with several youth programs.

Good Morning,

I just came across recently. It appears that Matthew Miller and John Van Dyk would like to have a debate with me sometime in the future. I prefer not to do a debate with them at all. It appears that it might be a set-up and a total free-for-all. I would like to turn into this a positive experience for all involved.

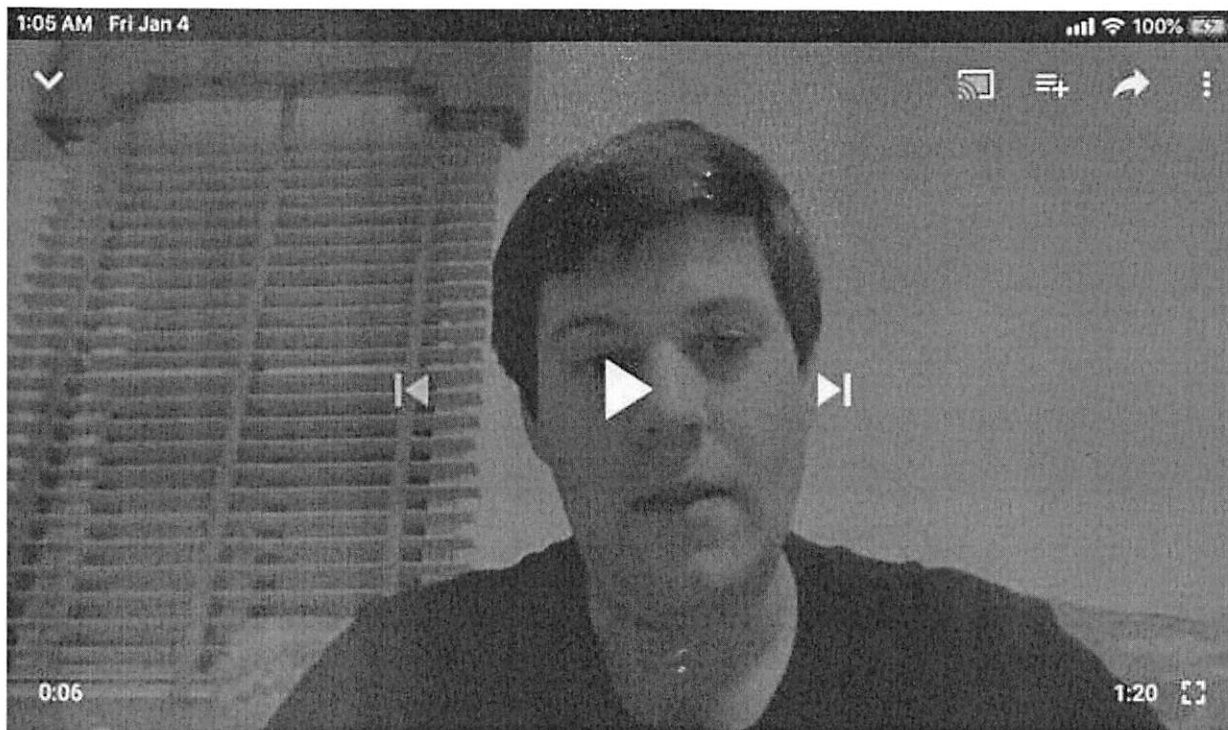

*I would like to have a debate/dialogue in the Howell Township, NJ Municipal Building with you involved. Maybe, a dialogue can be started here. I know that Howell Township is taking a small hit with some things going on you-tube. I would like to have issues debated and discussed instead of personal attacks being exchanged between people.

What's your thoughts about this? Do you think you would be interested in something like this...?!

Good Morning Again,

The Monmouth County Special Needs Registry is a good step but it doesn't go far enough in my opinion.

<https://www.mcsnrnj.org/>

I have experienced a lot of negative stereotyping when it comes to my documented psychiatric disabilities, my documented speech impairment and etc for one reason or another. Endorsement of these negative stereotypes can lead to prejudice among of a lot of other things.

Stereotypes about people with mental illness

<http://scattergoodfoundation.org/stereotypes#.XDL7JPZFzIU>

I fully aware that I'm still an amateur when it comes to being an independent citizen video journalist even though I learned a lot within the last two years or so. I also became very knowledgeable about New Jersey's OPRA law along the way to. I would love to have a 'mentor' when it comes to the media field to.

I'm starting to be an advocate for people with disabilities in addition of being an advocate for the first amendment. I have some valuable skills within my life. I just don't how to put it together and I don't want to break any laws either. I also need to balance my health needs because if I don't.....my health will suffer for it.

*I would like to be seen as the 'present Jen' instead of the 'old Jen' from years ago. I still need the supports to get through life though. I always believed in myself and the goals that I was trying to achieve within my life. There is nothing wrong with being an independent citizen video journalist who has some disabilities and etc in her life.

I know this issue has nothing to do with Monmouth County. The PTI that came from Hunterdon County is a waste of my time to tell you the truth. Those services could be going to other people who really needs them the most. Negative reinforcement doesn't work with me at all.....especially when my psychiatric disability and etc comes into play. I do not have an issue with telling the judge that even though my attorney will advise against it. Respect, understanding and positive reinforcement works the best for me to tell you the truth. I just hope that past of the 'system' realizes that before it's too late for all involved. I'm not conveying any threats within my last sentence either. I'm all about love, tolerance, and compassion for the most part.

I started to write the narrative for my life even though other people wanted to write it for me. Plus, the MCPO can put these e-mails and etc into the intelligence file that you didn't need to do on me. I'm not the bad guy that most people assumed about me when I came out of left field in 2016.

There are people in society that will never understand how strong the motivation to succeed is for individuals that have to live life differently because of a disability but when you have a passion for something the odds are on your side because you're willing to do whatever you can to be noticed for your abilities not your disabilities. ■

Good Morning,

I have learned a lot within the last two years or so. I just want to make it a better place for people with disabilities. I learned that we have some major issues across the board when it comes to people with disabilities especially the ones with psychiatric issues. These issues need to be exposed and talked about in a healthy dialogue. There needs to be more awareness within Monmouth County, NJ. I don't want other people to go through what I went through. The government needs to change, the courts need to change, law enforcement needs to change, and society needs to change for the better. People with disabilities need to have a voice within our society and within our own lives. I was stuck in my own life for the longest time ever. I'm trying so hard to overcome the barriers in my life but it hasn't been easy at all. I'm still getting up after I get knocked down each time. I'm far from perfect but I rather be my authentic self more than anything else. I still need the 'supports' in order to get through life though.

The Monmouth County Special Needs Registry is a good step but it doesn't go far enough in my opinion.

<https://www.mcsnrnj.org/>

I'm grateful for the opportunities that I'm getting with Howell Township Police Chief Andy Kudrick and some other police departments within the county.

Society came a long way but we still have a long way to go yet. People with disabilities shouldn't have to put up with the on-going harassment and bullying that they get from other people within society.

There are people in society that will never understand how strong the motivation to succeed is for individuals that have to live life differently because of a disability but when you have a passion for something the odds are on your side because your willing to do whatever you can to be noticed for your abilities not your disabilities.■

It's all about 'Transparency, Accountability, and Building Bridges' within any community.

Sincerely Yours,

Jen Coombs

Subject: Making It A Better Place For People With Disabilities

Good Morning,

I have learned a lot within the last two years or so. I just want to make it a better place for people with disabilities. I learned that we have some major issues across the board when it comes to people with disabilities especially the ones with psychiatric issues. These issues need to be exposed and talked about in a healthy dialogue. There needs to be more awareness within Monmouth County, NJ. I don't want other people to go through what I went through. The government needs to change, the courts need to change, law enforcement needs to change, and society needs to change for the better. People with disabilities need to have a voice within our society and within our own lives. I was stuck in my own life for the longest time ever. I'm trying so hard to overcome the barriers in my life but it hasn't been easy at all. I'm still getting up after I get knock down each time. I'm far from perfect but I rather be my authentic self more than anything else. I still need the 'supports' in order to get through life though.

The Monmouth County Special Needs Registry is a good step but it doesn't go far enough in my opinion.

Subject: CIT-NJ Crisis intervention Team

Good Morning,

I just found this educational link regarding law enforcement, mental health professionals, and people with psych issues. Can we get Monmouth County on board with the CIT- NJ program .

New Jersey CIT is a county based collaboration of law enforcement professionals and mental health professionals who are committed to developing a local system of services that is responsive to individuals with mental illness, family members and the police officers. The CIT model strives to provide law enforcement officers and mental health professionals with knowledge and skills that allow them to respond to the individual in psychiatric crisis in a manner that minimizes the potential for injury.

Good Afternoon Ms. Coombs,

I'm sorry that you are having a difficult time. As stated previously, your best course of action would be to pursue whatever civil remedies may be available to you. If you are unable to afford a private attorney, you may wish to contact the Monmouth County Bar Association to see if there are any attorneys who would assist you pro bono. The other option would be to contact Rutgers Law or Seton Hall Law School to see if they have a free legal clinic to assist you.

Good Morning,

I don't really have the money for a private attorney for a civil case like this. Plus, John VanDyk falsely reported me for SSD fraud and etc according to video statement that he made. This is 'quite distressing' for me as a person with a long history of documented disabilities and etc. I'm trying to take care of this in the appropriate manner without going into the deep end. John VanDyk online campaign needs to stop especially with the false allegations and etc. He also stated that he recruited people to file false allegations against me as well. I need help because I don't know what else to do.

Yep, I agree. I was looking at the number of people collecting disability and it's staggering. The number of people caught in fraudulent claims is staggering too.
