N.J. A92DBC, was broken into sometime over night. I arrived on scene and met with Touw who escorted me to parking spot 102 which is assigned to her. She said that she parked her car in the spot last Thursday or Friday and it has not been moved since. According to Touw, between 2:30 and 2:45 am this morning she heard her car alarm go off and silenced it with her key fob.

Touw stated that just before calling the police, she went to her vehicle and noticed that the driver's side door was locked but not all the way shut. Touw said that she was certain that her vehicle was shut with the doors locked when she last parked it.

I asked Touw if she was missing anything of value in her car and she said that she does not keep anything in there, not even loose change. DSG. Muller arrived on scene and processed the exterior of the car for latent prints which proved negative. Touw then unlocked her car and checked the interior and everything was intact.

NARRATIVE

system

I placed the door in the position in which Touw found it prior to calling the police and attempted to set the alarm off trying to open the locked door. Touw's alarm did not go off.

I contacted Abelour Management (973) 500-3228 ext 702 and asked if the video surveillance camera could be viewed. A short time later, I spoke with Jeff, a partner with Abelour, who stated that he checked the video from 2:00 am until 3:15 am and confirmed that no one was by Touw's vehicle. He added that the camera captured Toew's entire vehicle in spot 102.

Call unfounded. No further police action at this time.
