On 09/11/2019 at approximately 1826 hours, I responded to 353 Adams Street for a report of the resident having no electricity. Upon arrival, patrols met with the reporting party, Jaron Credle, who gave the following account. Mr. Credle explained that he currently rents one bedroom from the trailer located at 353 Adams St. and his roommate, Rakim, rents the rest of the trailer with his girlfriend. Mr. Credle explained he currently owes Rakim approximately $60.00 for an outstanding electric bill and that Rakim has subsequently turned off the power to his half of the trailer. Rakim also placed a deadbolt on the closet where the circuit breaker is located. Mr. Credle was able to remove the deadbolt from the closet granting him access to the circuit breaker and allowing him to turn his electricity back on. I explained the NJ landlord tenant laws to Mr. Credle and advised him to contact his landlord regarding Rakim's actions. Mr. Credle provided me with Rakim's phone number, [REDACTED], but was unable to provide any further identifying information for him. I attempted to contact Rakim multiple times, however, the calls went straight to voice mail and the mailbox was full preventing me from leaving a message. Mr. Credle was advised to contact this agency with any future complaints.

On February 23, 2020 at 22:37 hours, patrols responded to 353 Adams Street for a verbal dispute. Upon arrival, I met with 2 of the residents, Rakim Pottey and Giannina White, outside of the trailer. White provided the following account. White explained that she resides at 353 Adams Street with her boyfriend, Pottey, and her aunt's friend, later identified as Jaron Credle. White said that Credle has been making a mess around the trailer and it is agitating Pottey and herself. Specifically, White said that Credle leaves food around the kitchen and never cleans up after himself. Both White and Pottey have confronted Credle about this, however nothing has changed. Prior to police arrival, White entered the bathroom and observed shaving cream on one of her towels. White became angry and confronted Credle about the same, which resulted in a verbal dispute. White said that she exited the trailer and contacted this agency for assistance. The verbal dispute did not escalate into a physical altercation. I advised White that Credle has established residency and informed her of the eviction process. Next, I met with Credle inside of the trailer. Credle confirmed the account provided by White and said that he is going into his bedroom to sleep. All involved parties agreed to speak about the matter civilly on a later date. Call complete.

We met with the reporting party, Mr. Jaron Credle, who stated the following. Credle came home to his residence to find that his roommates had locked the door leading to the kitchen/living room of the residence, effectively stopping Credle from being able to access said common rooms. Credle stated that his roommates, Ms. Giannina White and Mr. Rakim Pottey, did this while he was gone and notified him of this through text message. Credle stated that he had contacted his landlord about the issue and was advised to contact the police. I then spoke with White and Pottey, who stated the following: White and Pottey do not get along with Credle and believe that he is not cleanly and do not want him getting them sick, considering the circumstances of today, specifically the Corona Virus. White and Pottey put a lock on the door leading to the kitchen/living room because Credle never uses those areas anyway and has no belongings in those areas. White advised that her aunt in the landlord and that White purchased all the major items in the kitchen, specifically the refrigerator and microwave, which she does not want Credle to use. I advised White and Pottey that they could not lock Credle out of the common areas of the residence. I further advised all parties that if they had an issue with their living arrangement, that they needed to reach out to the landlord to mediate same. All parties stated that they understood and were advised to contact this agency if they were in need of police assistance in the future.

Upon arrival, patrols met with the reporting party, Mr. Jaron Credle, who provided the following account. Mr. Credle stated that he recently received a suspicious phone call from a male and female approximately ten minutes prior to police arrival. According to Mr. Credle, he feels as if it was his roommate, Ms. Giannina White, and her boyfriend, Mr. Rakim Pottey, because they have had recent arguments over common areas inside the apartment (I-2020-003801). At this time, I asked Mr. Credle if he could elaborate on the context of the phone call. Mr. Credle could only remember he heard the male voice say, "I will fuck you up". Mr. Credle did not recognize the voices, or phone number, and could not shed any more light regarding the phone call. Furthermore, Mr. Credle just kept resorting back to the previous issues between him and Ms. White and Mr. Pottey. At this time, Mr. Credle advised that he is going to start looking for a new residence. After speaking to Mr. Credle, patrols spoke to Ms. White and Mr. Pottey. Both of them denied all allegations of making a threatening phone call, but they did admit their dislike for Mr. Credle because they feel as if he is sick and does not care about getting them sick. At this time, I advised Ms. White to contact her landlord to see if she could help Mr. Credle find a new residence. In the mean time, Ms. White advised that she would mind her own business and refrain from any interactions with Mr. Credle. Ms. White understood these recommendations without incident and both parties were advised of the complaint process. No further information.

Upon arrival, patrols met with Monmouth Medical screener, Michael Pfaff, who advised that Giannina's aunt, Monica White, called and stated that Giannina threatened to harm her. Pfaff further explained that the alleged comment resulted from an argument about pitbulls being allowed to stay in the residence. At this time, patrols made contact with Giannina and advised her of the complaint. Giannina stated that she is feeling fine and never threatened her aunt. According to Giannina, she and Monica got into an argument over pitbulls being allowed to stay in the residence, but she never made any threats towards Monica. After speaking to Giannina, Pfaff determined that she did not need to go to the hospital for a psychological evaluation. No further information.

On September 1, 2020 at 16:26 hours, I responded to police headquarters for an assist public call. Upon arrival, I met with the reporting party, Giannina White, who provided the following account. White explained that she has been a resident at 353 Adams Street for 3 years. Over the past several weeks, White has received 2 letters from 2 separate law firms. White provided me with a letter from Hanlon Niemann & Wright law firm, which advised that White needed to leave her residence immediately because she had violated the rules of Woodlawn Mobile Home Village. White stated that she did not have a copy of the other letter, but it allegedly said that she must leave the premises immediately. White inquired about the eviction process and I explained the same to her. White wished to document the incident with this agency for her own personal record. Call complete.

- 25) Privacy Interest - "a public agency has a responsibility and an obligation to safeguard from public access a citizen's personal information with which it has been entrusted when disclosure thereof would violate the citizen's reasonable expectation of privacy."

Burnett v. County of Bergen, 198 N.J. 408 (2009). Without ambiguity, the court held that the privacy provision "is neither a preface nor a preamble." Rather, "the very language expressed in the privacy clause reveals its substantive nature; it does not offer reasons why OPRA was adopted, as preambles typically do; instead, it focuses on the law's implementation." "Specifically, it imposes an obligation on public agencies to protect against disclosure of personal information which would run contrary to reasonable privacy interests."
