My buddy called me last night to say this unknown he/she was threatening to sue Oceanport because his posts were deleted on our FB page and he/she was blocked. I have been off for awhile and have seen anything recently. I am not sure what or when he/she posted or who took it down, maybe check with 39,44,47,51 in addition to me they all have admin rights, and see if they know about it. JT36

Are you afraid of words or the truth?
Jake is a convicted felon who killed a woman. Take the pic down. He is nobody to be celebrated. He is a blemish to the dept. Show some respect to the Borkowski family!

Obstructing my 1st Amendment constitutional rights can land you in Federal court and cost Oceanport taxpayers a lot of money.

The Oceanport PD has BLOCKED & OBSTRUCTED my 1st Amendment right to publicly speak on their FB. They have a picture of Blue Zero Hero Jake Pascucci. You remember him, former Oceanport officer, Long Branch officer of the month and now an admitted drunk and convicted felon of vehicular homicide. Oceanport PD has removed my post and blocked me from making any further comment. If this bothers you and you would like to express yourself, politely of course. Unfortunately the 1st Amendment suppressors at Oceanport PD have prevented me from posting the link or the picture. The truth hurts! I will be addressing this on Youtube. You can easily find their page Oceanport Police Dept NJ

Great job Jake, you got drunk and killed an innocent woman by the name of Karen Borkowski. You went from LBPD officer of the month to Blue Zero Hero of the year. But on the bright side you're getting special treatment by only getting 364 days in county and if your appeal goes well it could be less. In the meanwhile the Borkowski family have lost Karen forever. Cheers Jake!

Subject: Citizens Videotaping in Public Buildings

Good afternoon,

Some time ago, we alerted you to a Neptune City resident who drives to government buildings throughout the county to videotape, and then post online, her interactions with public employees at government agencies. The citizen, Jennifer Coombs, is back at this again and we have been alerted by some of your departments. This is understandably unsettling to the staff and law enforcement officers who work in the buildings in which this individual has been filming. Although this individual's conduct seems wrong, and our initial reaction as law enforcement is to have this citizen cease her videotaping, her actions are permitted as protected free speech under the First Amendment of the United States Constitution.

Opinions from the Civil Rights Division of the U.S. Department of Justice and both the New Jersey and United States Supreme Courts have collectively determined in many different cases that the use of videotaping by citizens, whether of law enforcement, public meetings or government activity, fosters openness which is an important touchstone of our democracy. Regardless of the holdings of our highest courts, it does not mean that the conduct of citizens videotaping in this manner is not disturbing to those of us who are confronted with it in the lobbies of our buildings. Fortunately, there are certain limited instances where such videotaping has been found to cross into territory that permits action on our parts.

Our courts have consistently noted that the right for citizens to record police is permitted, so long as their actions are not interfering with law enforcement operations and are not jeopardizing the safety of officers, suspects, others in the vicinity of the videotaping, or violates a specific law. It is unlikely that a citizen doing little more than videotaping in a public access area of a government building would be demonstrating conduct that would fall into one of these narrow exceptions.

So, what should you do if this individual or another citizen shows up in your lobby or another publicly accessible space and starts videotaping? Be courteous, ask if you can be of assistance, and ignore any comments the citizen may make designed to incite a response from you or your staff, regardless of how long the individual stays. Be mindful that anything that you or members of your staff say or do during that interaction will most likely end up online for all to see. Please make sure that your officers and staff members are made aware of this information so that they can respond accordingly. If you are concerned that the actions of a videotaping citizen are stepping over the wide boundaries of free speech that our courts have set, please call your MCPO legal advisor for guidance.

We have attached a recent photo of Ms. Coombs for your reference.
